

Academic Honesty in the Testing Center

All personal property/items not permissible for your exam will be kept in the front of the room, placed against the wall closest to the exit. Once you are in possession of a test, you are not permitted to leave the room until you complete the test. You may not drink or eat during the test.

Academic honesty is taken very seriously. You may be sitting very close to others as you take your exam. Resist any temptation to look at others' exams, and protect your exam from being viewed by others.

No electronic communication devices are permitted at any time. If you are found with an electronic communication device (including smart phones and smart watches) on your person it will be considered cheating and you will be instructed to turn in your test materials and leave the room immediately. Your professor and the Dean's office will be notified.

Under no circumstances may test questions or any part of a test be removed, reproduced and/or disclosed by any means (hard copy, verbally, electronically, etc.) to any person or entity.

I have read and understand the policy and I have neither given nor received unauthorized assistance on this exam.
